A St. Louis man who believes that "business comes before pleasure," disregarded a summons to serve on a jury because he had to get married that day.

It is said the Republicans in Philadelphia have about 60,000 fraudulent names on the registry lists and they feel confident of being able to carry the city.

There is a man in Omaha who owns $400 worth of neckties and he doesn't run a haberdasher shop either. But it takes a good many ties to hold some men down.

Miss Helen Gould does not find it necessary to get up monkey parties, &c., to break the monotony of existence. She finds exercise and pleasure in helping in benevolent and useful work.

Secretary Moody said in a speech at Pawtucket, R. I., Tuesday, that "trusts are the paramount issue in this campaign." Secretary Shaw says there are no "no issues." This looks like a divided Cabinet.

The Houston (Tex.) Chronicle says it admires "an honest Republican as much as it does an honest Democrat." It should admire that kind of a Republican a good deal more, for he is a good deal scarcer.

Russia has plenty of room in which to distribute her surplus population. Siberia is large enough to hold the United States and all of Europe, except Russia, and then have room enough for three or four States the size of North Carolina. And yet Russia is land-hungry and is reaching out for a chunk of China.

Shortly after the destruction of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, some effervescent patriot proposed that the children of the country contribute dimes, nickels and pennies, to build another Maine. He didn't calculate how many dimes, nickels and pennies it would take to build a $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 ship. But the little ones chipped in until their contributions aggregated $75,000, which is now on deposit in a Cincinnati bank. As the idea of building a warship with dimes, nickels and pennies has been abandoned, the question now is what to do with the $75,000.

IN HONOR OF MR. VANDERLIP.

Entertained by Leading Business Men Yesterday at Southport—Leaves To-Day for Charlotte.

Hon. F. A. Vanderlip, who was the guest of honor at the Chamber of Commerce supper at The Orton Friday night, was yesterday entertained by a number of leading business men on a steamer trip to Southport, with dinner at the Stuart House. The party left Wilmington at 10 A. M. on the steamer Mary Lilly and returned in the early afternoon. Among those comprising the party besides Mr. Vanderlip were Messrs. W. E. Worth, Jno. A. Arringdale, Wm. Calder, Hugh MacRae, H. C. McQueen, D. L. Gore, F. E. Hashagen, N. Jacobi and J. C. Stevenson.

An elegant dinner was served at the Stuart House and the party was entertained in most cordial manner by the hospitable host. The bill of fare was as follows:

Clam Soup.
Boiled Sheephead, Egg Sauce.
Creamed Potatoes.
Clam Chowder.
Crab Croquettes, a la Stuart House.
Olives. Chili Sauce.
Roast Beef.
Tomatoes. Rice. Lima Beans.
Roast Fowl.
Mixed Pickles.
Dessert.
Jam Tarts. Pudding.
Fruits.
Cheese. Coffee.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Vanderlip, accompanied by Mr. James H. Chadbourn and others, visited the grounds of the Cape Fear Golf Club and was entertained in the club house for a short while.

To-day the distinguished guest of the city will leave for Charlotte, where he will address the Manufacturers' Club Tuesday night.

LOCAL DOTS.

— Remember that next Tuesday, November 4th, is election day. Every Democrat should vote.

— The 4th of July is Independence Day; but the 4th of November will not be Independent's Day.

— On account of the election the saloons of the city will be closed from 6 o'clock to-morrow evening until 6 o'clock Wednesday morning.

— Col. J. W. Hindsdale, of Raleigh, has been employed as one of the counsel for young Edward Utley, now in jail at Fayetteville, charged with the murder of Mr. T. B. Hollingsworth.

— Morton Fuller the negro who was arrested Friday for slashing his fellow cart driver with a knife at the Angola mill, was sent to jail by the Mayor yesterday in default of $25 bond for his appearance in the Superior Court this week.

Patent Applied For.

A fond father, of this city, made an investment yesterday which created no end of merriment in the family. His little son, who was sick and quite irritable, asked him to buy a goat. Straightway a small animal of that species, and of the male persuasion, was purchased and sent to the house, and the child was delighted. Soon, however, capricornus showed an inclination to have some fun. He stood up on his hind legs, arched his neck and made one or two "passes" at his new owner. But the mother of the little boy intervened and asked paterfamilias what must be done. He told her that she must make a pad to go on Billy's frontispiece. When he went to dinner he was surprised to find the goat decorated with the contrivance he had suggested, and so proud was he of his wife's inventive genius that he has applied for a patent.

Scanty Support for His Wife.

Joseph Farrow, a colored stevedore, for failure to provide support for and abandoning his wife, was sent to jail by Justice Fowler yesterday in default of $50 bond for his appearance to answer the charges against him at this week's term of the Superior Court. The evidence showed that he left his wife and child a year ago and since that time has contributed only 62½ cents per week to their support.

POLICE WERE BUSY.

Series of Disturbances That Required All Their Attention During the Night.

AN AGED MAN WAS INJURED.

An Old Veteran Picked Up on Nutt Street Unconscious—Leg Badly Crushed—Fights in Wharf Dance Hall—Now at the Hospital.

One had only to look over the police blotter at the station house last night to be convinced that there is Carnival in the air.

Aside from the usual dozen or more "drunks and downs," at 10:30 o'clock the officers were called upon to investigate two disturbances that came in quick succession from a dance hall in the rear of Stern's saloon on Water street.

Oscar Headstrel, a sailor on the schooner Merom, now in port, was badly stabbed on the arm by a colored woman of whom he could give no intelligible account. No sooner had he been dispatched to the hospital to be sewed up, than there came another call from the same vicinity and James Sanders was hauled up in the patrol wagon with two ugly gashes in his head, inflicted with an iron door bar in the hands of a negro of whom he knew nothing more than that his name was "Joe." He, too, was sent to the hospital and his wounds, two or three inches in length, were stitched up.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning an A. C. L. watchman 'phoned to the station that a white man was lying in Nutt street, in front of Vollers & Hashagen's office. When he was taken to headquarters, it was found that he was under the influence of liquor and one of his legs was badly broken. He was sent at once to the hospital, also, where he is now lying in a precarious condition. He was unable to give his name at the station. He appears to be about 60 years of age, and is gray-haired. The presumption is that he fell in the street in an intoxicated condition, and that a heavy vehicle of some kind passed over his leg.

About the same hour the call came from Nutt street, Policeman M. C. Gray had to quell a small-sized riot between negroes in an alley across from Front street market house. A young colored man named Nathan Walker was brought out with an ugly wound in his head. Another negro, whose identity Walker would not disclose, struck him in the forehead with an empty beer bottle, inflicting an ugly gash, in which particles of glass were sticking when he was taken out to the hospital.

MR. J. E. HATCH PAINFULLY HURT.

Fell Over an Obstruction at Second and Market Streets Last Night.

Mr. J. E. Hatch, the well known painter, was painfully injured last night about 10 o'clock by falling over one of the iron tent pins that was driven at Second and Market streets for the erection of the riding gallery for the Carnival.

The pin had been driven into the street after nightfall and Mr. Hatch was coming down town in a hurry on a business mission. His foot caught over the obstruction and he was thrown violently, face foremost, to the rough cobble stones. One of his teeth was knocked out; another cut its way through his under lip and his face and hands were badly contused. He was taken into Shepard's drug store, where Dr. J. C. Shepard, Jr., dressed his wounds. Later he was sent to his home.

Schooner Attached.

Under an execution issued for the Murchison National Bank, yesterday, Sheriff Stedman attached the schooner Frank W. McCullough to settle a civil matter between the bank and the vessel's owners, Messrs. H. B. Haven & Co., of New York. Later Capt. Brink, master of the schooner, secured Messrs. Russell Gore as counsel and bond in the sum of $500 was promptly given. The vessel was thereupon released.

Bought the "Palace Bakery."

Under a foreclosure proceeding brought by Mr. J. W. Norwood, the Palace Bakery, on Market street, was sold yesterday at auction and bought by the Wilmington Baking Co., for $750. Messrs. W. A. and "Tuck" and Mrs. Lucy J. Farriss compose the company which purchased the property and they will open the store with a complete stock on Tuesday. Everything will be new and up-to-date.

Novel Advertising Scheme.

The handsome musical chair offered by Parker, the Furniture Man, to readers of his advertisements in the city papers, was drawn yesterday afternoon by Mrs. S. V. Bunting, No. 412 Red Cross street. The box containing the names was taken to Polvogt's and the winning slip was drawn by Miss Lela McIver, one of the popular saleslades in the store.

Lumber Mill Fire at Newbern.

The Trent Lumber Mills, owned by Thompson Bros., of Philadelphia, was entirely consumed by fire at Newbern Friday night with 250,000 feet of lumber. The loss is estimated at $30,000, with no insurance.

COMMERCIAL AND SHIPPING.

Movements of Vessels—Harbor Master's Report for the Month—Receipts and Exports of Cotton.

German steamer Linland, having finished discharging her cargo of pyrites, was cleared yesterday by Heide & Co., for Savannah, Ga.

British steamer, Lobelia, 1,913 tons, Capt. Watson, arrived yesterday from Huelva, Spain, to Heide & Co., with cargo of fertilizer material for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

The British steamer Stag, discharging a cargo at Charleston, will arrive early this week and receive a cargo of veneering timber for the Acme Tea Chest Co., of which Mr. Will L. Miller is manager.

The receipts of cotton and naval stores at the port of Wilmington during the month of October are printed in tabulated form in the commercial columns of the STAR this morning. Cotton receipts fell behind those of last year by a little less than 4,000 bales. There was an increase in receipts of all naval stores except tar.

The British steamer Osborne, Capt. Rettie, cleared yesterday for Liverpool with the largest cargo of cotton of the season. She carried 14,607 bales valued at $632,000, consigned by Messrs. Sprunt & Son. The exports for the month of Octoberwere 84,724 bales. The receipts, 86,351 bales against 90,102 same month last year.

The October report of Capt. Edgar D. Williams, harbor master, shows arrival of vessels of 90 tons and over at the port of Wilmington during the month as follows: American, 12 steamers, 13,244 tons; 16 schooners, 10,020 tons. Total vessels, 28, Total tonnage, 22,264. Foreign, 11 steamers; 19,868 tons; one barque 635 tons; one schooner 782 tons. Total vessels, 13. Total tonnage, 21,285. The grand total vessels was 41 with a combined tonnage of 43,549. The report compares very favorably with that for October last year.

MR. LEWIS GORDON DEAD.

Well Known Police Officer for Many Years—Passed Away Yesterday.

Mr. Lewis Gordon, an esteemed citizen of Wilmington and for 33 years a member of the police department, died yesterday at his home, No. 105 South Eighth street, after an illness of more than a year. The funeral will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock from Market Street M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Potter, and the interment will be in Oakdale.

Mr. Gordon was of Scotch descent and was born in Sampson county. He was about 65 years of age and came to Wilmington during the war. He was one of the first officers on the police force after the surrender and performed his duty in that capacity in a faithful and courageous manner until he was retired about three years ago on account of his age. Mr. Gordon leaves three sons and two daughters to mourn their loss. They are Messrs. John E., J. T. and C. E. Gordon and Misses Alice and Dora Gordon. They have the sincere sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

The pall-bearers at the funeral this afternoon will be Messrs. W. F. Robertson, J. D. Mote, Jos. H. Hanby, D. T. McCullough, Jere Holmes and J. G. Carney.

DEATH OF MRS. RICHARD W. GRAY.

Young Woman Much Loved and Admired Here—Died in Charlotte.

Friends in the city learned yesterday through the medium of a private telegram of the sad death of Mrs. Richard W. Gray, at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. C. Maffitt, in Charlotte, where she and Mr. Gray had been visiting for some time.

The death was peculiarly a sad one, and brought sorrow to the hearts of many friends made in Wilmington during her short residency here. She was married on the 12th of last February to Mr. Gray, who is assistant observer in the local Weather Bureau at Wilmington. Mrs. Gray came to Wilmington an entire stranger, but by her many personal charms and even disposition she drew to herself very many and strong friends. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, and her sweet Christian character was an inspiration to those with whom she was associated in ties of church fellowship.

The young husband has the sincerest sympathy of the community in his deep bereavement.

CHASE AFTER CHICKEN THIEF.

Mr. S. W. Sebrell Gave a Negro a Run for His Fowls Last Night.

Mr. S. W. Sebrell, No. 214 South Second street, gave a negro a lively chase for his chickens last night about 9 o'clock. Mr. Sebrell was in his residence and heard a squall from his fowls in the back yard. He went out and met a negro with three of his finest chickens. The negro ran and Mr. Sebrell chased him to the corner of Second and Dock streets. There he recovered the stolen property and also had a good hold on the negro but he wrested away, leaving his coat in Mr. Sebrell's hands. Later the negro was overtaken again by Mr. Sebrell and a policeman, but a second time he made his escape.

MISS M'GIRT QUEEN.

Chosen Last Night By Large Majority in the Pythian Carnival Contest.

OVER 15,000 BALLOTS CAST.

Wilmington's Welcome and Gala Week Opens To-Morrow Evening—List of Attractions—Layton Company Will Arrive Here To-Day.

Pythian Carnival interest yesterday and last night was centered entirely in the result of the vote for Queen of the Carnival, which was announced from K. of P. headquarters at 12:40 o'clock this morning as follows:

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION.

"We, the undersigned respectfully report that we have conducted the election for Queen of the Carnival and that the following is a correct report of said election: Total vote, 15,493.

Miss Mamie McGirt	8,366
Miss Bertha Swinson	5,867
Miss Lillian Johnson	871
Miss Cornelia Fillyaw	302
Scattering	87
Total	15,493

"Miss McGirt having received the largest vote, we declare that she is duly elected Queen of the Carnival and Merchants' Fall Festival.

"John J. Fowler, B. O. Stone, L. B. Rogers, W. A. Caldwell, W. C. Galloway and E. F. Jones, of the Carnival Parade Committee."

The scene about the various "polling places" just before the hour of closing the boxes was one of the wildest confusion. Admirers of the several young ladies in the race did not hesitate to express their sentiments and vote accordingly. It required just $418.30 to elect the favored one, and it cost the contestants all told $774.65. The majority for Miss McGirt was 2,499, and that number of votes cost $144.95, which need not have been expended had the progress of the election been made known as the vote was going on. Yesterday and last night alone 12,318 ballots were cast, as the total vote cast prior to that time was only 3,275.

The contest was a great success financially, and the committee is determined that the Queen shall be honored in a fitting manner. The float in which she and her five maids of honor will ride in the parade Thursday night will be the finest ever constructed in Wilmington or the State, and the coronation exercises will be elaborate.

The Fair Opens To-morrow.

To-morrow evening at 7 o'clock the fair will be formally opened according to the plans already outlined in these columns. The lights were turned on the handsome welcome arch at Front and Chesnut streets last night for the first time and when the other electric equipment is installed in the structure to-morrow morning, its beauty will be worth coming miles to see.

The Layton Carnival Company will reach here over the Seaboard Air Line from the State Fair at 10 o'clock this morning and very soon the various streets in the fair district will present a lively appearance. The various paid shows, 20 in number, are enumerated below. The selection of the locations for the several shows has not yet been made. The big animal show, however, will almost certainly be located on Market between Front and Water streets. The riding gallery, or "hobby horses" as it is usually called, arrived yesterday and was put in order last night at Second and market streets. There will be two of these—one for white and one for colored persons.

Confetti battles will take place nightly during the Fair at Front and Market streets. Two hundred thousand bags of the Material have arrived and will be sold only at Gerken's cigar store and at Rehder's booth in front of the postoffice, and by boys on the streets.

Through the courtesy of Messrs. W. W. Divine & Co., the following donations have been received by the Carnival country store: Acme White Lead & Color Works, Detroit, Mich., 200 cans of Neal's Cycle Enamel in various colors; J. W. Masury & Son, 6 gallons of liquid White; Berry Bros. Baltimore, Md., 12 qts. light hard oil finish.

The above donations are gratefully and thankfully received by the Pythians of the city as are also many other donations through the kindness of the business houses.

Mr. S. J. Ford, scenic artist and mechanical engineer of the Carnival Co., arrived in the city yesterday to make preparation for presenting the eruption of Mont Pelee, which will be placed on several barges, opposite Market street on the river. The scene is a realistic one and will take place just after the coronation ceremonies Thursday night at Water and Market streets. Capt. Harper announces that he will place on sale at Penny's, corner of Water and Market, a limited number of seats for people desiring a seat or a ride on the steamer Wilmington during the eruption. The boat will move out in the stream. Price, 15 cents each. Also seats in the pagoda on the steamer's wharf for 10 cents each.

Col. Geo. Hall's Big Animal Show will be by far the best show on the grounds, and the low price of admission will make it in easy reach of all. Among the large collection of animals is the largest elephant in captivity, weighing more than six tons and 110 years old.

In this show a lady enters a cage of leopards and makes them perform wonderful feats of intelligence; while a gentleman enters a cage of vicious and roaring lions. The trained white horse is a special feature and fully worth the price of admission. This is strictly a first-class animal show, and can be visited by ladies and children of refinement.

The musical features of the opening of the Carnival to-morrow night will be elaborate. As the current is turned on to put the fair machinery in operation Hollowbush's Band, in front of Gerken's, will render the "K. of P. Carnival March," a composition of Mr. Carl Cordier, solo clarinetist in the organization which will render the piece. Then will follow a concert, and at 7:50 P. M. Hollowbush's Band and the Second Regiment Band will leave Front and Princess streets in one of the suburban cars for a trolley parade of the city. The "K. of P. Carnival March," which will be rendered by the two bands en route, is dedicated by Mr. Cordier especially to the Fair at Wilmington.

BOUGHT UNKNOWN FACTORY.

Palmetto Company, of Philadelphia, Will Soon Establish New and Important Industry Here.

By deed filed filed for record yesterday William Kraft and wife, of New York, for a consideration of $1 and other valuable considerations, transferred to the Palmetto Company, of Philadelphia, the property in Cape Fear township on Smith's Creek, called the "Unknown Factory," and the same being a part of the Sans Souci farm. The deed also carries with it all the machinery, boats, flats, office furniture, etc, used in the operation of the factory and an easeway connecting with the W. & W. railroad, near the two-mile post.

The Palmetto Company recently sent a representative here, who inspected the property and conferred with a committee from the Chamber of Commerce relative to the establishment in connection therewith of a large fibre plant. The company will bring palmetto here from Florida and manufacture it into material for mattresses, etc., etc. Should it develop all its promoters hope for, the enterprise will soon grow into one of the most important in the city.

It is presumed that operation of the plant by the new company will be commenced very shortly.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

— Mr. H. McD. Wiggs, of Atlanta, is in the city visiting friends.

— Miss Cora Wiggs left Friday to enter the Southern Shorthand and Business University, of Norfolk, Va.

— Mr. E. L. Hollingsworth, of the A. C. L. at Tarboro, arrived yesterday to visit his friend, Mr. H. M. Wiggs.

— Yesterday's Fayetteville Observer: "Miss Ellen Hollingsworth left this morning on the Hurt for Wilmington to attend the K. of P. Carnival."

— Mr. Frank P. Turrentine, formerly of Wilmington, but now of Charleston, S. C., arrived yesterday and will spend the week with "the boys" taking in the Carnival.

— Mr. W. W. Slaton leaves Tuesday for his new home in Chicago, where he becomes auditor of a large piano house. His numerous friends in Wilmington will regret his departure very much.

Prominent Charleston Divine.

Rev. E. O. Watson, pastor of Bethel Methodist Church, Charleston, S. C., arrived yesterday afternoon on the W., C. & A. train, and this afternoon at 5 o'clock he will deliver an address at the Young Men's Christian Association upon the subject, "Prevailing Power." Rev. Mr. Watson is an earnest speaker and should be heard by hundreds. To-night at 7:30 o'clock he will preach at Fifth Street Methodist Church. Mr. Watson is the guest of Secretary Charles Dushan while in the city.

Real Estate Transfers.

By deed filed for record yesterday Eliza Larkins transferred to W. A. McGowan and wife for $150, house and lot on east side of Twelfth, between Dawson and Wright streets, 66x165 feet in size. By another deed, also filed yesterday, I. J. Sternberger and wife transferred to Miss Mary F. Sanders and Mrs. Christiana Stevenson for $1 and other valuable considerations, lot on east side of Fifth, between Ann and Nun streets, 28x33 feet in size.

BURY THEM DEEP.

The political campaign which practically closed yesterday has been in some respects a unique one, unique in the fact that the Republicans took a new departure and posed as the representatives of a "white-man's" party after having associated, politically, with the negro for thirty-four years. It, to all appearances, was a bold move for them to make but they concluded that it was worth the trial as they couldn't win with the negro anyway and would not be any the worse off without him. But the mistake they made was in the low estimate they put upon the intelligence of the white men of North Carolina when they expected to fool them by any such thin device as that and thus bring into the Republican party white men to take the place of the negroes who had been thrust out. To help the device along and make the transit easier for the new allies they were seeking they resorted to the dodge erecting a sort of "independent" half-way station where the expected auxiliaries could rest before they resumed the march if they decided to go clear through.

That proved about as much of a fizzle as the negro kick out did for the white voters of North Carolina caught onto that fake at once. As cunning as the manipulators were they were not cute enough to cover the wires or hide the fingers that manipulated them. The people of North Carolina have the reputation of not flying off at a tangent and becoming unduly excited, but they are mighty quick to catch on to the games of schemers who plan to humbug them and assume that they are imbeciles to be fooled by any thimble rig game that may be played upon them by any set of bungling mountebanks.

That was virtually the assumption that the Republican leaders acted upon in adopting their programme this year, and they acted upon it to the end. The campaign since the beginning with them and their so-called "independent" allies has been one of assumption, deception, artifice, sophistry and misrepresentation, taking it for granted that the audiences they addressed could be won in that way. Senator Pritchard made his boast just before the campaign began that he was going to "force the tariff issue upon the Democrats," and would not let them shirk it, to create the impression that it was their intention to shirk it when he knew that the Democrats had already made that and the trusts the issues, and that they did not propose to let him shirk them. That was his bluff, and it was called until there was nothing left of it.

He began with a confession of guilt as far as his party is concerned by declining to go behind 1894 to discuss party records. That was "ancient history," as he called it, which was so rank and offensive that he didn't want it touched, but it was touched and slipped in spite of his efforts to keep the cover on. It was the first instance that we know of where a party leader, the party leader, drew the line and refused to discuss the record which his party had made, because it was too offensive and odious for public discussion. We can't blame him much for trying to dodge that, but he showed the white feather by doing so and confessed that his party record was a shameful and revolting one.

Assuming that the people he might talk to could be easily fooled, he played the Dingley prosperity fake and had the monumental cheek to claim that whatever of prosperity North Carolina has was the result of that tariff, when it had no more to do with it than it had with ending the coal strike in Pennsylvania. It would be just as logical to claim that as the result of the tariff as it is to claim that North Carolina's progress and prosperity are. He claimed that prosperity came after the Dingley tariff, and therefore was created by it, which is not true, because the industrial revival began before the Dingley tariff. But if North Carolina's prosperity came after that tariff so did the coal strike, and so did the Cuban war, and the Boxer war in China, and smallpox, which has appeared in so many States in this country, and the bubonic plague, and the cholera in India, China and the Philippines. If the post hoc propter hoc theory is good, why not carry it out to the end and be logical and consistent?

But they have played their bunco fake game with their "independent" assistants; they have carried out as well and as far as they could their programme of assumption, deception, sophistry and misrepresentation; the case now goes to the jury where the people will pass upon it and render the verdict at the ballot boxes next Tuesday. We have no more doubt what that verdict will be than we have that the sun will rise on the morning and set on the evening of the day of the election. We wouldn't permit ourselves to entertain such an opinion of the intelligence of the white men of North Carolina as to doubt it. It is not with us a question of what the verdict will be, but simply one of how emphatic and overwhelming it will be. It ought to be so emphatic, so overwhelming as to prove a never-to-be-forgotten rebuke to the schemers and buncoers, by whatever name called, who underrate the intelligence and trifle with the manhood, loyalty and honor of a people whose devotion to principle and fealty to their State and to the memory of their fathers has never been questioned without rebuke. When the balloting is finished Tuesday the whole gang of tricky schemers should be buried, and so deep, that the attempt to resurrect them will never be made.

SECTIONALISM DEPRECATED.

In his speech at Brockton, Mass., a few days ago, Secretary Moody referred to the demands for free raw materials by the manufacturers of New England, and while he thought some raw materials should be free it was not practicable to put them on the free list without at the same time reducing the tariff on articles made out of these materials, and hence putting raw materials on the free list would result in a wide change in the tariff system.

In addition to this, he said the demand for free raw materials is sectional and as such he deprecated it, holding that all tariff legislation should be national in its scope. But the protective system as it has been constructed and carried out by the Republican party is essentially sectional. There is nothing national about it. Southern industries have always been practically ignored and received protection only when that protection was incidental to the protection given to Northern industries.

One section in the North demndus protection in some industry in which it is interested and its representatives threaten to oppose the bill if the demands of their constituents are not granted, and then another section does likewise, and so each section puts in its claims. But it goes further than that; the manufacturer or producer of some commodity wants protection on that, although there may be very few in his section engaged in the industry. He gets it, and so do others, and thus the tariff makers pander not only to sections to placate them, but to individuals to placate them and the tariff becomes both a sectional and a class system, which entirely ignores the interests and the welfare of the masses of the people who are taxed, and heavily taxed, for the benefit of the few.

Our Republican friends believe in protecting American industries but that $10,000 dinner set recently purchased by Mrs. Roosevelt was imported stuff, all the same, made by the "cheap pauper labor of Europe."

There often comes a time in the struggle with pulmonary disease when the victim loses heart and gives up hope. The ambition to be up and around gives way before growing weakness, and the sufferer keeps to the bed.

No one who suffers from lung disease should lose heart or give up hope while there is a possibility of cure. In many cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured lung "trouble" when the cough was obstinate and deep seated, with hemorrhage, emaciation, night-sweats and general weakness. A great many men and women are living to-day in the full enjoyment of health and happiness who had been "given up" by doctors, but found a perfect and permanent cure in the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

"My wife had hemorrhage of the lungs," writes W. A. Sanders, of Hern, Mason Co., W. Va. "She had ten hemorrhages, and the people all around here said she would never be well again. But she began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she soon began to gain strength and flesh. After taking ten bottles she was entirely well. Should you think this would do you any good to publish, just use it, and if any one disputes the merits of this almost omnipotent medicine they may enclose self-addressed envelope with stamp, and I will answer, the same as written in this letter."

A SPLENDID CAMPAIGN.

The campaign just closed in this State has been a remarkable one for its thoroughness, the vim with which it was conducted, the number of speakers in the field and the ability shown by many of them. In this respect the advantage was, of course, on the side of the Democrats who have many able and eloquent speakers, while Republican orators of the higher order are comparatively few. There are probably not more than a half dozen men in the party, if so many, who could size up to the standard of a first-class public speaker. Senator Pritchard, while he did the best he could, (and it is said he has improved as a speaker,) is far from being a captivating or persuasive orator, but he was fortunate, perhaps, in arranging that "joint canvass" with Mr. Craig, for that gave him audiences that he would never had if he had canvassed alone.

As a rule the Republican candidates and their "independent" allies either declined invitations to joint discussions or imposed conditions that their opponents declined to accede to, and hence we had few joint discussions, but this did not lessen the interest taken in the campaign either by the people or the speakers, for where Democrats spoke after the campaign had fairly opened they had large and enthusiastic audiences, in striking contrast to the comparatively empty benches to which the average Republican or "independent" talked—a significant sign of how the people of North Carolina stand in this contest.

Much of the credit for this splendid campaign is doubtless due to the able management of Chairman Simmons who not only put the best, the brightest and most gifted of Democracy's champions in the field, but entered it himself and from beginning to end did brilliant, powerful and effective speaking. But he was only one of many of whom the same may be said who gave their time and services freely and labored zealously and devotedly for the triumph of the party and principles on whose success the prosperity and happiness of the people of North Carolina depend.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— The colored political leaders of Petersburg have issued a circular to the colored men of their bailawick, urging them to keep away from the polls on election day. Entirely superfluous advice is that. In the nature of the case the greater part of them will have no business there on that day.—Richmond Times, Dem.

—— The Springfield Republican mourns drearily over the alleged nullification of the Fifteenth Amendment in North Carolina, where by the operation of the new constitution most of the negroes have been disfranchised. Our New England contemporary should remember that North Carolina white Republicans are the most enthusiastic and jubilant glorifiers of the changed conditions.—Savannah News, Dem.

—— Colonial Secretary Chamberlain is going to South Africa, to pick up the main features of the bad condition there, through personal observation and impression. It goes, of course, that South Africa is not a in regular, steady going way. But the fact remains that, since the peace of Vreeinging was declared, the British colonies in that subcontinent have imported merchandise worth $150,000,000, and paid for it, $90,000,000 going to Cape Colony, and the rest to Natal, which took over $30,000,000, and the two Boer provinces—Chattanooga Times, Ind..

If I should see
A brother languishing in sore distress,
And I should turn and leave him comfortless,
When I might be
A messenger of hope and happiness—
How could I ask to have what I denied,
In my own own hour of bitterness supplied?

If I might share
A brother's load along the dusty way,
And I should turn and walk alone that day,
How could I dare
When in the evening watch I knelt to pray—
To ask for help to bear my pain and loss,
If I had heeded not my brother's cross?

If I might sing
A little song to cheer a fainting heart,
And I should seal my lips and sit apart,
When I might bring
A bit of sunshine for life's ache and smart—
How could I hope to have my grief relieved,
If I kept silent when my brother grieved?

And so I know
That day is lost wherein I fail to lend
A helping hand to some wayfaring friend;
But if it show
A burdened lightened by the cheer I sent;
Then do I hold the golden hours well spent,
And lay me down to sleep content.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Greensboro Telegram: The trade of Greensboro is spreading to all parts of the earth, as is shown by the fact that the well known Johnson and Watson shoe factory, of this city, has received an order for shoes from Frankfort, Germany.

— Pender Chronicle: According to the returns from various registrars throughout the county, the registration in Pender county this year is as full as could be desired—1,328 white and 54 black. A majority of the negroes who registered this year in this county registered under the grandfather clause.

— Greensboro Record: When the ordinary man walks through the mill at Proximity he comes out thinking it is a large mill, and it is beyond question, but it is not so large as White Oak Mills, to be built a mile or more northeast of Proximity. Work is progressing on it and enough is done to show what a mammoth affair it is going to be. It will be over twice as large as Proximity and the largest mill in the South.

— Sanford Express: Very few white men in Sanford township failed to register for the coming election. One hundred and seventy registered in the East precinct, four of which were negroes, and one hundred and forty-four in the West, only three of these being negroes. Only seven negroes will be able to vote in this township in this election. Some few white Republicans failed to register.

— Kinston Free Press: A remarkably hard-headed hog was killed yesterday by Braxton & Dunn's butcher. A 38-calibre pistol ball was fired into the hog's head, which did not stagger him, and it had to be killed by sticking a knife into it's throat, when it was found that the bullet, though landed fairly, made no impression on the hog's skull, and was perfectly flat itself. The skull was twice the thickness of ordinary hog skulls and exceedingly hard.

— Greenville Reflector: Wednesday evening about 8:30 the bar room of Marshall Starkey, on Fifth street, was the scene of a desperate pistol duel, between J. W. Allen, Jr., a farmer living about three miles from town, and H. S. Hardy, who was employed in the tobacco business by B.E. Parham. Both men were under the influence of liquor, and as a result of the fight Hardy is lying at his home on Ninth street in a critical condition, with several bullet holes in his body. One shot took effect over the right collar bone, one entered the left breast just below the heart, one entered the left arm above the elbow, making a flesh wound, while one shot hit him in the abdomen and one entered from the rear near the end of the spinal column. There are two holes in the back, one of which is thought to mark the exit of the bullet fired at his breast. Examination made by the physicians shows that Hardy was struck by six balls, two of which entered from the rear. It is thought he has a fair chance to recover.

— Bobby—"I know why they call the trusts 'infant industries' pop!" Father—"Why, my son?" Bobby—"'Cause they waut to grab everything in sight, just like our baby."—Puck.

— "There's a gentleman without, sir," said the precise clerk, entering the private office of the coal merchant "Without what?" asked the faction. merchant. "Without coal, sir!"—Yonkers' Statesman.

COTTON MARKETS

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The cotton market opened barely steady, with prices one to two points lower, and for the rest of the early session followed a narrow run, with speculation at a low ebb, even for a Saturday half-holiday. The dominating influences were bearish, the weather over the greater portion of the belt favoring late cotton, the receipts at the ports and interior towns being liberal, the Liverpool cables showing one point decline where no change was due on the New York closing of last night, the reports from Southern spot cotton markets telling of rather tame demand with prices barely maintained, owing to liberal offerings from the interior and the prospects favoring increasing receipts during the coming week. It was reported that another cold wave had developed in the Northwest, but the local trade was indifferent to bullish information of any type. Commission houses were poorly supplied with buying orders and the January pool contingent devoted energies solely to the maintenance of that option twenty-five points over the March and May positions. The South and Europe were light sellers early in the day, but aside from this business was strictly professional and mostly of a weak and realizing character. Sentiment in local circles was bearish. The approaching election to some extent served to check public trading.

WAX FIGURE OF A HERO

[Original.]

"Where did you first meet your wife Halstead?"

The question was asked by a guest of Austin Halstead after dinner, when the wives of the two men had retired to the drawing room and cigars were brought to the dining table. A smile passed over Halstead's face.

"That's a funny story," he said.

"Funny stories, especially about the first meeting of wives and husbands, are always interesting."

"I hadn't been out of the Naval academy a year and was as full of nonsense as the day I left Annapolis. Our ship was ordered to the Brooklyn navy yard for refitting, and, having a good deal of time on my hands, I spent it in New York. I found the Eden Musee a good place to get away with an afternoon and spent not only one but several there. One day—I was in uniform at the time, having been ordered on some official duty in New York connected with the ship—I strolled into the show of wax figures along with one of our fellows, Tom Anderson. Tom was on leave and in mufti. We went through the place and sat on a wooden settee to rest and watch the people. A friend of Tom's went by, and Tom left me temporarily to go to speak to him.

"I noticed that several persons looked at me scrutinizingly, suspecting that since I was in uniform I might be a wax figure of some great naval hero, but as soon as they perceived that I was merely a real live middy they lost interest in me and passed on. Presently I saw coming a young girl of sixteen, whose dresses had not been let down to the length for women, in the care of a French maid. She was one of the piquant kind, full of animation. This was evidently her first visit to the show, and she was intensely interested in everything she saw. She gave me an inquiring glance, then asked her maid in French whether I was flesh and blood or wax. Not getting a satisfactory reply, she came nearer and fixed her sparkling black eyes upon me.

"Of course it was a mean thing to do, but what can you expect from a youngster who has also the disadvantage of being a sailor ashore? I looked straight before me. Tom Anderson was standing at a little distance, talking with his friend, and saw the girl trying to make me out. He smiled and called his friend's attention to the pantomime. Tom had as much deviltry in him as I and was equally culpable. Tipping the wink to his companions, he led the way toward me.

"'Did you ever see Admiral Farragut as a young man?' he said, loud enough to be heard by the girl. 'Here he is just as he was at twenty-one.'

"The two stood before me while I stared at vacancy. The girl drew near to hear all about the great admiral.

"'This waxwork,' Tom continued, 'was made after photographs taken at the time.'

"This was such a palpable lie that I found it difficult to retain my gravity. When Farragut was twenty-one, photography was unknown. Besides, the uniform was then very different. But these facts had no effect on the girl.

"'No one would suppose,' said Tom, 'that the great naval hero could have been such a miserable looking specimen of humanity in his early days. Look at that nose. Did you ever see such a proboscis?'

"'I think he was very handsome,' said the girl to her maid indignantly.

"'Then his hands—big enough for a No. 10 glove. And his feet—they'd cover the quarter deck of a line of battle ship.'

"The girl tossed her head and turned her back on the speaker. How I ever retained my gravity I don't know. I remember that I felt a horror of laughing, for it would have revealed a terrible slight upon the young girl. I had already had enough of the joke and wished that Tom would go away and the girl would pass on without knowing how we had fooled her. When she looked away for a moment, I gave Tom an appealing look, which he understood and drew his friend to another curiosity.

"As soon as they had gone the girl entered upon an animated dialogue with her maid, in which the former did nearly all the talking.

"'Those men ought to be ashamed of themselves to talk that way. We've been studying about Admiral Farragut at school, and it's a disrespect to speak so even about his wax figure. I think he was lovely.'

"My heart melted more and more to my charming defender, and I was becoming dreadfully ashamed of my deception. The maintaining of a fixed position was tiresome, but I would rather die than reveal myself.

"'I don't see,' the girl remarked, 'how it is possible to make wax look so lifelike. See the color in the cheeks, the veins. Those eyes can't be glass. I wonder if he is a wax figure after all.'

"At this juncture a fly lighted on my nose and made my position intolerable. The girl came very near and examined me critically. Then she raised her taper finger and touched me on the cheek. This was too much. I broke into a smile and said as kindly as I could:

"'Mademoiselle, you have made a mistake.'

"'Oh, goody gracious!' she gasped, drawing away as from redhot iron.

"I would have apologized, but she turned and ran away as fast as she could go, followed by her maid."

"And the second time you met?" asked the dinner guest.

"Oh, that was three years later at a ball on board the flagship. She recognized me and laughed at the incident. I fell in love with her, and we were married. But there's nothing funny about that." F. A. MITCHEL.

Lost by a Toy Balloon.

Diamonds and other jewels have been lost in all sorts of queer ways, but in none more unusual than the accident mentioned in the Boston Transcript, by which a diamond brooch was snatched from the owner's dress and left somewhere on the great plains.

A young woman was traveling by rail through Kansas. At Kinsley, where the train made a considerable stop, a fair was in progress. Here the young woman bought of a peddler a toy balloon for a little girl who had won her fancy.

The child was delighted with the plaything, and as they rode along she chatted with her new friend and pulled the balloon up and down. At length she playfully fastened the string to the lady's diamond brooch.

The train was rounding a curve at the moment, and a strong gust of air came through the car. The balloon was carried out through the open window. The sudden jerk on the string loosened the brooch, and away it sailed.

The jewel was so valuable that the young woman offered a reward of $500 for its recovery. Spurred by this incentive, cowboys scoured the plains for days in all directions, but without success.

Expensive Smoking.

Some men smoke a pipe for the sake of economy, because they can't afford a good cigar, and other men indulge in the meerschaum and brier because they claim it is the only way to get the full enjoyment out of tobacco. The question of economy doesn't enter into the scheme of the latter class.

A Walnut street manufacturer of Turkish cigarettes sells at $4.50 a pound a considerable quantity of imported tobacco. His customers are connoisseurs, and they are men who can amply afford to pay this exorbitant price and say the goods are worth it. Some of them, to be sure, make it last longer by mixing it with Virginia long cut, for the Turkish tobacco is exceedingly pungent, and a little of it will flavor an equal quantity of the cheaper weed. A novice who was pricing this tobacco expressed some surprise that it should be so expensive.

"That isn't expensive," replied the tobacconist. "There are Turkish tobaccos that, with the duty added, would cost as much as $60 a pound in this country."—Philadelphia Record.

Sir Boyle Roche's Famous "Bulls."

Sir Boyle Roche, too, whose bulls made him famous, on one occasion assured a wonder stricken body of voters that if elected he would put a stop to smuggling practices in the Shannon by "having two frigates stationed on the opposite points at the mouth of the river, and there they should remain fixed, with strict orders not to stir, and so by cruising and cruising about they would be able to intercept everything that should attempt to pass between them."

Another time when on the hustings he observed, "England, it must be allowed, is the mother country, and therefore I would advise them (England and Ireland) to live in filial affection together like sisters, as they are and ought to be." This was only equaled by his, when opposing his antiministerial motion, wishing the said motion "was at the bottom of the bottomless pit."

Poor Choice Either Way.

"When passing through a certain section of a certain state once," said a man who has traveled much, "a friend and I stopped at the house of a neighbor for tea. Soon after we had sat down at the table the housekeeper looked toward us and asked whether we wanted long or short sweetening in our coffee. As she asked that question I looked toward my friend, and he looked at me. I nudged him in the side, meaning that I wanted him to speak. He said he would take long sweetening. With that she put her finger in a cup of molasses, put the same finger in his coffee and stirred. That was long sweetening.

"Then she asked me what I wanted, and I said immediately, 'Short.' So she put her finger in another cup, took out something that resembled maple sugar, put it between her teeth and bit it in two parts. One part went into my cup and the other into hers. It seemed to be a case of no matter which sweetening you tried you'd wish you had taken the other."

He Kept His Leg.

Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., scratched his leg with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For two years he suffered intensely. Then the best doctors urged amputation, "but," he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and 1½ boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg was sound and well as ever." WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 2.

SAYS NEXT HOUSE WILL BE DEMOCRATIC.

Chairman Griggs of the Democratic Congressional Committee Predicts Majority of Not Less than Twenty

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, November 1.—Chairman J. M. Griggs, of the Democratic Congressional Committee, issued the following final statement:

The next House of Representatives will have a Democratic majority of not less than twenty. How many more than this we shall have can only be determined after the counting of the votes polled on Tuesday next. It depends largely, as every election does, on the weather and other conditions which cannot be forecasted. The Republican leaders have been until recently complaining of apathy. For the last day or two for political purposes they are claiming that they have overcome this to a large extent, and are faint-heartedly predicting success. Reports to us do not indicate that this is true. Republicans everywhere appear listless and even careless of results. We find that our Democratic friends are wide-awake and alert in every district in the United States where there is a fight.

"It is well to understand that the last apportionment bill was so drawn as to add nineteen Republicans and ten Democrats to the house—a Republican advantage of nine in addition to their present majority. The Legislatures of the Republican States, where possible to do so, have outrageously gerrymandered congressional districts and many Republican districts by what they consider safe majorities. This is notably the case in Illinois and New York; but these States have had a habit of playing havoc with political gerrymanders in the past, and we believe that this is a year in which there will be a repetition of this. We are not depending on this, however, for our majority named above. Even if these States go as they were gerrymandered to go, we shall have a Democratic House by a safe working majority."

LYNCHING IN MISSISSIPPI.

Negro Burned By a Mob for the Murder of Two Men.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov. 1.—A special to the Scimeter from Sardis, Miss., says:

Reports brought to this place from Darling, Miss., are to the effect that a mob of 4,000 persons last night burned a negro for the murder of two men named Jackson and Roselle. Just before he was burned the negro confessed to the crime and implicated a white man who lives near Bridgeport. A posse was formed at once and the white man was captured. He is in custody near the scene of the tragedy and probably will be lynched.

Later, it was learned that the two white men were released, an alibi having been proven by each man. No further trouble is expected to-night.

THIRTY-TWO WERE INJURED

Collapse of a Grand Stand at a Football Game in Chicago.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—With a crash that could be heard for blocks, one of the temporary grand stands erected for the Wisconsin-Michigan football game collapsed this afternoon, carrying down fully 1,000 people. Thirty-two people were injured, but none of them fatally.

The stand which collapsed was one of three that had been brought from Wisconsin by the Wisconsin team, and, although not entirely finished when the game began, had been inspected by the city building department and pronounced safe.

FATHER CHAS. MOHR.

Will Be Consecrated Abbot of St. Leo's Abbey on Thanksgiving Day.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 1.—Right Rev. Bishop Haid, of the Catholic Monastery at Belmont, was to-day officially notified of the confirmation by the Pope of Father Charles Mohr as first abbot of St. Leo's Abbey in Florida. He will be solemny consecrated by Bishop Haid on Thanksgiving day at Saint Mary's College, Belmont. Saint Leo's College was established by the Belmont Abbey in 1893. It has also charge of the Catholic church in the Isle of Pines near Cuba.

PENNSYLVANIA'S ELECTION.

Both Sides Claiming a Victory in the Contest Next Tuesday.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—Both sides are claiming a victory in Pennsylvania, the Republicans asserting that Judge Pennypacker will defeat R. E. Pattison, the Democratic candidate for Governor, by at least 100,000 majority.

The Democratic leaders on the other hand are equally confident of success basing their opinions principally on the hearty reception of their candidate during their stumping tour. A strong effort has been made by the Democrats to change the complexion of the Legislature, in the hope of defeating Senator Penrose.

FORECAST FOR THE ELECTIONS.

North Carolina Will Give Not Less than Fifty Thousand Majority

FOR THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The General Assembly Will Be Four-Fifths Democratic—The Election of Nine Democratic Congressmen a Certainty.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 1.—At the close of the campaign in North Carolina the Democrats control the situation. Under the constitutional amendment which disfranchises illiterate negroes there have been about ten thousand negroes registered and the Democratic majority will be without precedent.

Of ten congressmen to be elected, nine are absolutely certain to be Democratic.

The State ticket will be carried by the Democrats by not less than 50,000 majority. The General Assembly will be fully four-fifths Democratic and this insures the defeat of Senator Jeter C. Pritchard, Republican, and the election of a Democrat to succeed him.

In Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 1.—Very little interest is manifested in next Tuesday's election in the State of Georgia. The election will be for members of Congress only, governor and State officers having been chosen in October. There is no doubt of the return of a solid Democratic delegation to Congress from Georgia. In only one district, the Seventh, is there the shadow of opposition. In that district A. J. McKnight has announced himself a candidate to oppose Congressman Jno. W. Maddox. Maddox's election is conceded, however.

South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 1.—There will be no opposition to the Democratic State ticket in South Carolina. In several of the congressional districts the Republicans will have candidates, but this strength is merely nominal. In the First district, which includes Charleston, A. P. Prioleau has been nominated by the Republican convention to oppose Geo. S. Legare. Prioleau is a negro. The Democratic ticket will sweep everything.

Virginia Outlook.

RICHMOND, Nov. 1.—The outlook on the congressional elections in Virginia is that the Democrats will be successful in every district. The only district in which a real fight has been made by Republicans is in the Ninth, where Congressman Rhea is opposed by W. J. Stemp, and the indications are that this will be carried by the Democrats with the other nine.

Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 1.—The campaign practically closed in Alabama to-night. Monday several rallies will be held, but the real work of the campaign has been completed. The elimination of the negro from the electorate has caused a partial recasting of political lines, and an attempt has been made by the "Lily White" Republicans to supply all the opposition to the Democratic candidates.

COAL STRIKE ARBITRATORS.

Decided to Adjourn Next Thursday Until Friday, Nov. 14th, When Taking of Testimony Will Begin.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SCRANTON, PA., Nov. 1.—The arbitration commission, which is engaged in settling the differences existing between the anthracite coal operators and the mine workers, decided to-day on their tour of the Wyoming Valley, to adjourn next Thursday until Friday, Novemer 14th, when the taking of testimony will begin in this city. The first four days of next week will be taken up in inspecting the mines and mining towns from Hazelton South to the end of the Rehigh coal fields. All of this territory is in districts No. 7 and 9 of the United Mine Workers of America, and is under the jurisdiction of President Thomas Duffy and John Fahy of the Union, who will accompany the commission. Chair. Gray said the object in taking a recess of one week was for the purpose of giving both sides sufficient time to prepare their cases, and also to give the members of the commission an opportunity to examine the issues. It is the intention to have the miners who are considered the plaintiffs submit their case first.

The sixty-seven individual operators will be given an opportunity to be heard as well as all the larger coal companies.

The miners will take up considerable time in presenting their side of the case.

The question of making a preliminary report on some of the issues involved, such as the increase of wages, a shorter work day, and the weighing of coal at the mouth of the mines, has not yet been officially taken up by the commission, and it is not definitely known to-night that it will be considered by the commissioners.

INNES AND HIS BAND COMING.

Concert in the Academy of Music Next Saturday Evening—His Talents

Innes and his band will appear for one concert at the Academy next Saturday night. Apart from his musical talents, Innes is an interesting man. He is a good writer and something of an original philosopher. In a recent article he said he thought very few people understood the mission of music in the world. He said he had talked with few people who had learned that music described the whole field of human action, energy and ambition just as truly as current literature. That the one whose imagination is most stirred by music is the one who understands music best. He asserts that to an ear attuned there is a story of love, peace or war, wind or wave, in every piece of good music. The one who can read it he holds to be the best critic, even though he may not know one note from another. All the great music writers, he believed, would have been great authors if their thoughts had turned to literature instead of music.

Accompanying the band are Frances Boyden, soprano; Bohumir Kyrl, the Bohemian cornetist, and Filippi Sevasta, the Italian harp virtuoso.

CAMPAIGN CLOSED IN NEW YORK STATE.

Leaders of Both Parties Confident of Success in Tuesday's Election—The Betting in Wall Street.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—With the leaders of both parties confident of success, and predicting majorities of 40,000 or 50,000 for their respective tickets, the State campaign for the election next Tuesday was brought to a close to-night. The candidates of the two leading parties for Governor chose the battle ground of Kings county for their speeches to-night, while former Senator Hill was in Buffalo making a final effort to capture Erie county. Conservative men in both the leading parties predicted that success would be won with a majority possibly as small as 11,000, and all predictions are based on widely different estimates of the majority the Democratic ticket will show up to the Bronx and the majority which the Republican ticket will bring down there from up the State to meet it. Governor Odell himself to-day predicted the success of the Republican State ticket by 50,000, while Chairman Dunn, of the Republican State committee, clung to his prediction of 37,000, for the ticket.

While Governor Odell and Colonel Dunn were thus expressing their confidence, Bird S. Coler, the Democratic nominee for governor, and Chairman Campbell, of the State committee, were making similar statements for their party in the State.

"I have received reports of the most encouraging character from up State," said Mr. Coler, "and I am absolutely certain of my election."

Chairman Campbell said: "The outlook is encouraging." He gave out no further direct statement to-day, but in explanation of his reticence he said a detailed statement of claims of his party probably would be made public Monday."

In Wall street to-day the betting was two to one on Odell, and many firms placed amounts ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. There was a good deal of money to bet at ten to six, but the Democrats asked better odds.

In Greater New York the Democrats regard the outlook as indicating a majority of at least 85,000 or 90,000, while Charles F. Murphy the Tammany leader, predicts that Coler will go to the Bronx with 112,000 to the good. A Republican estimate gives Coler 60,000 in New York county, 10,000 in Kings and 1,000 in Richmond.

Hugh McLaughlin, Democratic leader of Kings county, predicts that Coler will be elected by 50,000, and that he will have from 20,000 to 25,000 in Kings, where Mr. Stanchfield had 2,300 plurality for Governor.

Democratic workers say that the situation in the Fifth judicial district will cost the Republicans 17,000 votes and Lieutenant Governor Woodruff says this talk is foolish.

FAILURE OF A GRAIN EXPORTING FIRM.

The Ondendahl Commission Company of New Orleans—Alleged Forgeries of Over $150,000 the Cause

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—President F. J. Ondendahl, of the Odendahl Commission Company, limited, one of the largest grain exporting firms in the United States, has issued the following circular to the grain trade:

"We regret very much to have to advise you that our firm is forced into liquidation and will not be able to pay its liabilities. You will spare us the necessity of making further explanations, they are painful.

"Our business has been very profitable and large, but the profits have been diverted into other channels not through any fault of the writer."

To-day's circular follows a widely circulated report of alleged forgeries amounting to between $150,000 and $175,000, and at the present time the following banks are known to hold the company's paper in approximately these amounts: Compoir Nationale, Escompe de Paris, $70,000; Hibbernia Bank and Trus Company, $50,000; Louisiana National Bank, $15,000; Commercial National Bank, $4,500.

The Ondendahl Commission Company has done an enormous grain exporting business and for years has been in the habit of borrowing large sums from ten days to a month on unindorsed notes secured bybills of laden warehouse receipts and blanket insurance policies. It is alleged that advantage has been taken of the high credit of the firm to borrow immense sums from banks on forged bills of lading and warehouse receipts, and that this has been the cause of the failure.

E. J. Ondendahl, president of the company was formerly president of the New Orleans Board of Trade, and is one of the best known business men in the South. The company bought extensively in Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities.

No warrant has been issued for the arrest of the official alleged to be responsible for the failure of the firm and he is reported to have left the city.

KILLED BY HIS MOTHER.

Thirteen-Year Old Boy Mistaken for a Burglar.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 1.—Mrs. W. S. McLaine, of Covington, Va., last night shot to death her son William, thirteen years of age, whom she mistook for a thief trying to get into her house. Late in the night Mrs. McLaine heard some one moving around the outside of the house. She called repeatedly to whoever it was, demanding an answer, but the noise only continued, with no word from the person she thought a robber. Mrs. McLaine, fearing that she was about to be attacked, secured a shotgun and fired into the darkness from a window. There was the sound of a body falling at the front door. She opened the door and was greeted by the stare of the eyes of her son—dead.

William was in a Halloween disguise, and had just returned from a frolic with some of his young friends. He was evidently playing a joke on his mother by refusing to answer her calls.

In his attempt to lower his pacing record of 1.59¼, at Memphis, Dan Patch made the mile in 2.00¼. Prince Alert paced a mile in 2.00¼. His former record was 2.00.

CONTINUATION OF MOLINEUX TRIAL.

Cross-Examination of the Prisoner Finished Shortly After Its Resumption.

IT ENDED RATHER ABRUPTLY.

Molineux Made Good Impression—His Father Patted Him on the Shoulder and Said "Good Boy"—Handwriting Experts Testify.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The cross-examination of Roland B. Molineux by Assistant District Attorney Osborne, which was resumed at the opening of court to-day, was finished within a few minutes after its resumption. Mr. Osborne's first question to-day was, "Did not Mr. Barnett pay your wife attention?" "Not at all," was the reply.

"Did you not so testify at the inquest?" Molineux's reply to this was that Barnett had paid attention to Miss Cheseborough in the spring and autumn of 1898 before she became Mrs. Molineux.

The defendant was in the best of humor. When Mr. Osborne asked him if he gave his wife an engagement ring at the time of his engagement and his answer was not to the prosecutor's satisfaction, he said, smilingly: "I can tell you better than you can drag it out of me."

"I don't wish to drag it out of you," said Mr. Osborne.

Molineux then said he bought an engagement ring on November 18th, 1898. Yesterday he testified that he and Miss Cheseborough became engaged in September, 1898.

At Christmas, 1897, he gave her a "Mizpah" ring, and when he became engaged in September 1898, he wished to buy her an engagement ring but did not do so until November.

A letter to Miss Saddie Sheffler, in which Molineux spoke of his engagement and forthcoming marriage as a "romance," and said also that it was sudden, was then identified and admitted in evidence.

Mr. Osborne ceased his examination rather abruptly after several questions as to the prisoner's connection with various medical associations. As Molineux resumed his seat behind his lawyers, Rev. Lindsay Parker, of Brooklyn, shook hands with him, and his father, General Molineux, patted him affectionately on the shoulder and said, "Good boy."

Mr. Black called Max Gumpel, a handwriting expert, as his first witness after Molineux. Mr. Gumpl told of his qualifications as an expert. He said he had studied handwriting more than thirty years and had testified in many important cases, among others the Riegand-Becker forgery; the Sharon will case, the Sarah Althea Hill controversy in California, and the Thrice will case in New York. He declared that the conceded and disputed writings were not written by the same hand. Mr. Gumpel said it was his belief that the address on the poison package was in the natural hand of the writer and that its cramped appearance was due to its having been written after the package was made up.

On cross-examination Mr. Gumpel said he would expect the sender of a poison package to disguise his handwriting. He knew of no case in which a person had sent poison to any one with trying to conceal his identity. Mr. Osborne got the witness to say that the "U" and "C" in "Club," written by Molineux, had many characteristics in common with the address on the poison package wrapper. He found also shading in the top of the letter "C" in Cornish on the wrapper and like shadings in the "C" of the word "Club" in various of the conceded writings.

Dr. David Ewell, a handwriting expert, was the next witness. He said he had made careful studies of the disputed and conceded writings and was convinced they had not been done by the same hand.

Dr. Ewell was still on the stand when court was adjourned until Wednesday next.

Full of Snap.

Gretchen, the daughter of an old German named Kruegel, had been serving as domestic about two weeks in the household of Judge Vaughan of Richmond, when father and employer met on the village street.

"Vell, yoodge," said Kruegel, "how you like dot Gretchen by dis dime alretty?"

"Like her?" returned the judge in his blunt way. "Why, she's just great! We never had any one in the house in her line that entered into work with so much spirit. She's full of snap all the time."

Kruegel turned ponderingly away, and, meeting his frau at his home portal, he sorrowfully said: "Teresa, someding must goed wrong mit dot Gretchen. I yoost dit meeted Yoodge Vorgan, und he saidt dot she vas full of schnapps all de dime."

What the Death Mask Shows.

The value of a plaster cast as a portrait of the dead or living face cannot for a moment be questioned. It must of necessity be absolutely true to nature. It cannot flatter; it cannot caricature. It shows the subject as he was or is, not only as others saw him in the actual flesh, but as he saw himself. And in the case of the death mask particularly it shows the subject often as he permitted no one but himself to see himself. He does not pose; he does not "try to look pleasant." In his mask he is seen, as it were, with his mask off.

A Sure Sign.

Little Dick—Papa, how does thunder sour milk?

Papa—It is not the thunder, but the electricity.

"How does electricity sour milk?"

"It works certain chemical changes in the constituents of the fluid, which result in the formation of an acid."

"Of course. But how?"

"I don't know."

"I thought you didn't, or you wouldn't have used such big words."

Christians and Jews.

When Charles Lamb was berating an enemy, some one said to him, "Why, you don't know him." Lamb replied, "I don't want to know him for fear I should like him."

Christians and Jews make ignorance of each other a claim for judgment and seem to be afraid to become acquainted for fear that they might like each other.—Peters' "The Jew as a Patriot."

Spectacles and Moisture.

Wearers of spectacles are frequently annoyed by the glasses becoming dim from a deposit of moisture upon them. An easy way to prevent this is to wash the glasses every morning with soft potash soap. The glasses should then be polished, but an invisible film will remain which will prevent moisture being deposited on them.
